Special Issue: Vulnerable Populations Under COVID-19 in Japan (Table of Contents)

Edited by David H. Slater

Introduction

The Politics of Etiology

Containment and Isolation

Entrepreneurial Work During the Pandemic

Foreign Labor Under COVID-19

11. Megha Wadhwa - In the Age of COVID 19 – The Indian Restaurants and the Indian Cooks
Resilience Through Controlling Environment

12. James Farrer - How are Tokyo’s Independent Restauranteurs Surviving the Pandemic?

14. Makiko Deguchi and Chie Matsumoto - Voices of Sanitation Workers in Japan amidst the COVID-19 Pandemic

This is the Table of Contents for The Special Issue: Vulnerable Populations Under COVID-19 in Japan, edited by David H. Slater.

Please also read our previous special Pandemic Asia on the impacts of COVID-19 in the larger Asia-Pacific region, edited by Jeff Kingston, delivered in Part 1 and 2.

David H. Slater is professor of cultural anthropology at Sophia University. He has worked on youth and labor, capitalism and urban space. Since 2011, he has been working on oral narrative, first of disaster and survival in Voices from Tohoku, then of mothers displaced from Fukushima, of youth activists and of homeless men in Tokyo. Currently, he is working on a related project, Voices from Japan, focusing on foreign refugees seeking asylum in Tokyo through the collection of oral narratives and support efforts through the Sophia Refugee Support Group.