Special Issue: Vulnerable Populations Under COVID-19 in Japan (Table of Contents)

Edited by David H. Slater

This is a collection of articles on vulnerable populations in Japan in the wake of the new coronavirus pandemic. Our goal is to capture the voices and situation of those who have been most directly affected by the virus and to document the conditions that made them vulnerable in the first place.

Thanks to all the authors who worked so quickly to get this research together in a timely fashion. In editing this volume, we received extensive guidance from Mark Selden and Jeff Kingston, invaluable editorial assistance from Laney Bahan, and production processing assistance from Subodhana Wijeyeratne and Yayoi Koizumi who shepherded the manuscripts from submission to publication with patience and precision.
